Jordan has positioned itself as one of the most sought after destinations in West Asia. The country has taken several steps to establish as a market-based and globally competitive economy and encourage more foreign investments. The country's economy is expected to grow at 2.6% in 2023 with strong performance across all sectors in the first three quarters. While FDI was subdued in 2020 and 2021, it picked up in 2022 and outperformed 2019 levels. While the region is plagued by the conflict in Gaza, as per IMF, the Jordanian economy will be able to come out of this shock with sound economic policies and strong international support.
